Family friendly event promises tons of fun.

COLUMBUS, OH – The Columbus Fishing Expo is returning for its third year to the Ohio Expo Center in Columbus. The event, taking place February 10th through the 12th, promises to bring 20 to 30,000 anglers and outdoor enthusiasts to the Ohio Expo Center. Centered around education and family the Expo boast over 100 seminars and interactive exhibits along with gear and tackle in 155,000 square feet.

Attendees will learn from the best in professional fishing and participate in interactive seminars and exhibits like fishing in a 6,000 gallon fish tank for live fish and testing their skill in the live fly-fishing area and the 5,000 square foot Cabela's Ultimate Kid's Zone. All while checking out the latest gear from hundreds of vendors plus new trucks from RAM and boats from Tracker, Ranger, Nitro and more.

Founded by amateur fisherman and entrepreneur David Hoheisel the Columbus Fishing Expo takes pride in bringing families together around fishing and the great outdoors. "We love seeing whole families coming to the event. Seeing a kid reel in a trout at our pond and the look on their face is awesome!" In their excitement to share their love of fishing with the next generation all kids 17 and under get in free.
